Introduction

Welcome to the home of The Drumore Manor Ensemble & The Philmont Collection. For over 20 years, the Smucker family has been dedicated to bringing you beautiful, handcrafted, solid hardwood gun cabinets and curio display cabinets to showcase your prized collections.

On January first 2023, the curio part of the business was bought by the Beilers. We (the Beilers) want to continue and improve what the Smuckers has done over the past 20 years.

Our woodworking shop is located in Southern Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, surrounded by farm land and wood land. We prioritize a quiet area dedicated to creating beautiful handcrafted cabinet.

We have a firm commitment that there are no shortcuts to quality. Tried-and-true woodworking skills are built into every piece using the natural resources abundant here in America.

Most of our parts are manufactured in house which allows us first-rate quality control with meticulous attention to detail throughout the entire cabinet making process.

During the process of building the doors, frames, and other parts, we select our lumber according to the color you choose to ensure a consistent finish, showing off the beautiful natural wood details.

Our finishing process starts with the color of your choice, a coat of catalyzed sealer, hand sanding, then a silky smooth topcoat of catalyzed conversion varnish, and your cabinet is ready to become a family heirloom.

The majority of our pieces are made to order. Consider this when placing your order: most of the parts are still in a pile of lumber, waiting to be crafted into your display cabinet, not stored in a warehouse waiting to be shipped.

Please realize we are only human and are working with a natural product, but continually strive to give you exceptional quality.

Our furniture is built for generations of enjoyment! We stand behind every piece we make. Thank you for browsing through our catalog, and remember us when you are ready to add a handcrafted display cabinet to your home or office.
